Hon Membership Secretary: The Revd David Parsons

The aim of Ministry Today UK is to be a supportive resource for all in pastoral leadership, so that they might not only survive, but also grow and develop, becoming more effective in the ministry to which Christ has called them.

Ministry Today UK provides a cross-denominational network for ministers and church leaders which focuses on:

- Exploring the new challenges of mission
- Sharpening their ministry skills
- Gaining new insights into pastoral care
- Reflecting on the practice of ministry
- Growing as a person
- Developing as a professional

Our journal, Ministry Today UK, is published three times a year: this is a unique resource for it's the only ecumenical journal in the UK devoted to the practice of ministry.

We hold an annual, overnight conference at Pleshey, an Anglican retreat house set in the Essex countryside.

We offer consultations to groups of ministers and local churches. A limited consultancy service to individual ministers is also available.
